

PRACTICE MEDICINE IN ORANGE COUNTY

Kaiser Permanente's Anaheim Medical Center has a licensed bed capacity of 200. More than 350 physicians and 3,500 support staff serve more than 325,000 members in the medical center and its satellite medical offices in Anaheim, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, La Palma, Brea, Mission Viejo, Aliso Viejo, Yorba Linda, San Juan Capistrano, Irvine, Orange, Tustin/Santa Ana and Costa Mesa/Santa Ana.

Special medical services in the Orange County area include the Rehabilitation Pavilion, with its state-of-the-art Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine Program, and the Health Pavilion — dedicated to health education and health promotion.

The medical center is proud of its innovative and collaborative culture.

This collegiality crosses all disciplines and specialties. This multidisciplinary approach and focus on quality has led to many successful initiatives including our Suspicion to Diagnosis of Breast Cancer Protocol, Primary Care Access Model and cutting-edge Interventional Radiology Program.

We have our own accredited Family Medicine Residency Program in addition to university-affiliated residency programs in obstetrics/gynecology, surgery, urology, gastroenterology, head and neck surgery, radiology, dermatology, and orthopedics.

Many consider Orange County to be one of Southern California's most desirable places to live. Located south of Los Angeles County, Orange County is characterized by master-planned communities stretching from Newport Beach to Anaheim Hills, and boasts highly rated school systems and delightful suburban and rural lifestyles. Local attractions include 29 beaches, 60 golf courses, and numerous yacht and tennis clubs. Museums, theatres and recreational opportunities abound, such as Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

Sports fans can enjoy games at Edison Field, home of the Anaheim Angels, and Arrowhead Pond of Anaheim, home of the Mighty Ducks hockey team. Orange County also offers the University of California, Irvine; California State University, Fullerton; and a variety of other colleges, community colleges and professional schools. Large corporations, such as Rockwell International and Pacific Bell are among some of the major employers in Orange County.
